Our Council on Aging put together a welcoming bag for the newest members of the Highland Village Circle (the new housing for the elderly). There were many items in the bag from all the businesses and friends of the town. We hope our new seniors enjoyed them and we give a special thank you to those who donated and to the committee that organized, put the bags together and delivered them.

We would like to send condolences to the family of Homer Bissell. Homer lived in Goshen his entire life and was on so many committees. He will be missed by his family and his many town friends.

We also send our condolences to the family and friends of Bryan Clarke.

The COA has just organized a new outreach team called "Age Friendly Goshen". This group will be working together to help seniors in need. They would like to include a male on this committee. If you would like to join or know someone that might like to help, please contact Henrietta Munroe at 268-7465. We will have more about this group next month.

Blankets for Kids

Do your talents include crocheting, knitting or quilting? The Northwestern District Attorney's Office is partnering with Project Linus and TRIAD to provide blankets to children who have been affected by the opioid epidemic or other trauma. The Massachusetts Senior Legal Helpline (800) 342-5297

Are you 60+ and in need of legal help?

The Helpline is a project of the Volunteer Lawyers Project of Boston. We provide free legal information and referral services to Massachusetts residents who are 60 years old or older. The Helpline is open Monday through Friday 9AM-12PM.

Can I get a free attorney?

Most callers will not be eligible for a free attorney. Helpline advocates can help you find out if you are eligible and complete an application for services with a Massachusetts civil legal services program. Legal services law types include: Social Security/SSI, Veterans Benefits, MassHealth, Medicare, Consumer, Public Benefits, Unemployment, Foreclosures, Utilities, Guardianship, Wills/Advance Directives, Bankruptcy, Housing, Family law, and Nursing Home.

Can I get referrals to reduced fee and private bar attorneys?

If you are not eligible for a free attorney and have some ability to pay an attorney, we can refer you to reduced fee attorney referral programs where attorneys will charge you on a sliding scale based on your income.

We can also refer you to private bar attorney referral programs. Private attorneys will charge for their services. Some cases, such as medical malpractice, workmen's compensation, personal injury, and Social Security benefits denials do not require you to pay money upfront in order to get an attorney. The attorney fees are taken from your award only if you win your case.

Can I get free legal information or referrals?

Yes. Your Helpline advocate will research your legal issue and provide you with information or referrals on most legal topics. We can also text, e-mail, or mail you links or written materials.

Would you like to receive your newsletter by email instead of snail mail?

If so, please email Kristen at regionalcoanews@gmail.com to be put on the email list.

And In Review...

There will not be a test, but I thought it might be a good idea to go back over some stuff about scams. A recent issue of Consumer Reports listed the top 4 kinds of scams that are STILL tripping us up and costing us money.

- IRS Imposters. You owe us, pay up or we'll put you in jail.
- Home Repairs and Security Checks. Hello home owner, I'm a contractor and noted that you need a new roof. Give me the money, I'll get the supplies, and fix it. OR we are your new security or computer company, and we need to reboot your system.
- Grandparent Scam. You grandson is in jail in Mexico, I'm a lawyer, if you send me money I'll get him out. Poor little Timmy – he is so scared there.
- Lotteries and Sweepstakes. Congratulations, you won! Just send us money to cover taxes and the expense of sending you your prize.

I lied – here is a test. If I get a phone call from a number or name I don't know, I should:

- a. Just hang up
- b. Not answer in the first place
- c. Try to outwit the caller by keeping him/her on the line and giving false information or trying to find out where they are.

Answer: You chose A and B! YES! Congrats!

Safely,

Hilltown Elder Network:

When a H.E.N. is not a chicken... but is the kind of help you could use!

Who? Income eligible seniors aged 62 years or older who reside in Chesterfield, Cummington, Goshen, Plainfield, Williamsburg, Westhampton, Huntington and Peru. A participant's eligibility is determined during the intake process. An over-income applicant may use HEN to locate a screened, experienced, local caregiver who will provide services for private payment.

What? Home cleaning, laundry, food shopping and meal preparation, snow removal, handling of firewood and escorted transportation for medical appointments or shopping are typical forms of assistance offered. There is no charge. Services provided by HEN caregivers can only be those home chores and daily living tasks that applicants report they are unable to do themselves, due to health conditions and/or mobility limitations. HEN Caregivers are trained local residents who are paid for their services. Each caregiver is reference-screened and CORI-checked. HEN services do not include personal care.

When? As an individually customized service, HEN provides continued weekly assistance (typically 1-4 hours per week), short term assistance (i.e. helping an elder who recently suffered a broken hip and is recovering at home), or one time assistance for an unusual need, such as the clearing of snow following a heavy storm.

How? For further information, call the coordinator for your town (listed below) who can provide you with more details about eligibility and available services in your town.

Cheaper Electric? not so fast ...

Have you gotten a call from an alternate electric company promising lower monthly bills if you switch from Eversource to their service? Massachusetts Attorney General Maura Healey, citing aggressive sales tactics, false promises of cheaper electric bills and the targeting of low-income, elderly, and minority residents, issued a report calling for an end to the competitive electricity supply market for individual residential customers in Massachusetts.

The report found that Massachusetts consumers paid $176.8 million more than if they had stayed with their utility company during the two-year period from July 2015 to June 2017.

According to the Attorney General, "In Massachusetts, residential customers, like commercial and industrial customers, can 'shop around' for electricity rates. Customers can choose to get their electric supply from their utility – National Grid or Unitil or Eversource – or from a 'competitive supplier.'" ...The AG's report found that the average low-income customer enrolled with a competitive supplier paid $231 more than if the customer was receiving their electricity from their utility company. The report found some low-income households lost more than $541 by switching to a competitive supplier."

In the last three years, the AG's Office has received more than 700 complaints about competitive suppliers engaging in aggressive and deceptive tactics. Complaints include suppliers pretending to be a utility company to induce customers to turn over sensitive information; suppliers harassing customers with repeated calls or home visits; and door-to-door salespeople forcing their way into elderly customers' homes and refusing to leave without a signed contract.

If you think you or an older adult you know might be vulnerable to aggressive sales pitches, you can add your name to a "do not switch" list. That way, even if scammers convince you or a loved one to switch, the transaction will not actually take place. To add your name to National Grid's "Do Not Switch List" call: 800-322-3223. For Eversource, call: 1-877-659-6326
