December COA Events:

Tuesday, December 10th at Noon

Holiday Dinner

Town Hall Dining Room

'Tis the season to be Jolly! We will start with Turkey and Beef and have lots of fixings. Sure, we will have enough so you don't have to make anything unless you want to. Shhh... if we are all good, maybe Santa will come to visit.

Since it's the holiday season we thought you may have a favorite ornament: something you have had for a long time, one that you made or one that that was made for you. Bring it to the luncheon and share it with us. We would love to hear a story about it!

Friday, December 20th at 10:30am
Trip to Yankee Candle

Our third Friday field trip will be to lunch and Yankee Candle. If we are not in the Christmas spirit, seeing the beautiful decorations and smelling all the warm holiday scents will help. We will leave the town parking lot at 10:30am and return by 3pm. If you would like to join us, please call Evelyn to sign up.

Tuesday, December 24th at 9am
Foot Care Clinic

For an appointment at the Town Hall, call Liz Loven to schedule: 268-7122. For an in-home visit, call Piper directly: 413-522-8432.

Wednesdays at 10am
Muscle Strengthening Class

The class is going very well! Joan is very good about letting everyone know when she cannot have her class on Wednesdays. With winter weather coming, she is reminding everyone that if the Hampshire Regional School district is closed or delayed, check your email to see if she will be holding a class. Her utmost priority is to keep you safe. If you are not on her email list, let her know.

New! Knitting Group starting December 4th

The COA will be hosting a knitting group this winter! On the first Wednesday of each month the group will gather in the dining room in the town hall at 1pm. If you have a project you're working on, or an old project in your closet you keep saying you're going to finish, this is the time to do it.

Pat Wheeler will oversee this group and she is very willing to help answer any questions you have. Pat loves to knit and has had a lot of experience with knitting. Come enjoy some tea while knitting and visiting with new and old friends. See you December 4th! If you have questions, call Pat Wheeler: 413-268-7964.

We will not be having a coffee hour in December. We know you will be getting ready for the holidays!

There will be a Fundraiser Craft Fair on December 7th 9-3 at the Town Hall. Crafts, baked goods, handmade wreaths and raffle prizes. This craft fair benefits the Chesterfield-Goshen Children's fund. Let's help provide holiday gifts for families in need to ensure all children experience a wonderful season. We will have a donation container at our luncheon if you would like to donate toward this cause.

The Age Friendly Group met and discussed Code Red. Code Red is the town's emergency alert system. If you are already signed up, you have been receiving these calls. The Age Friendly team is checking on seniors to make sure everyone has access to this. These calls can be on your phone, cell phone, text or email. So, if you do not get the emergency calls, you can go on the web and sign up or call Henrietta or Evelyn and they will help you.

We would like to send our condolences to the family of Sylvia Richardson who passed away on October 24th. Some may remember her from when she offered piano lessons.

Goshen Walks

Many hilltown residents enjoy getting out for walks in their neighborhoods when good weather permits. In Goshen we have a state highway that divides our town, resulting in some pedestrian unfriendly experiences in town center.

A small group of Goshen residents applied for a grant with Healthy Hampshire to create a walking route map in pedestrian friendly areas. We were awarded the grant and are pleased to share this walking route map with all! There are varied levels of walks outlined in this map, they are measured by time and intensity rather than distances. There are copies of this map available in a kiosk in the entry area of the town office and it is also available online at: www.goshen-ma.us/departments/complete-streets-committee/

Did you know...

1. An almanac prediction states that if snow falls on Christmas Day, Easter will be warm, green and sunny.
2. National Cookie Day is December 4th.
3. The first artificial Christmas tree was made in Germany, fashioned out of goose feathers that were dyed green!
4. "Jingle bells" was composed in 1857, and not for Christmas – it was meant to be a Thanksgiving song!

Seniors Aware of Fire Education

The December holidays will be with us before we know it. Many of the customs involve candles. So, here are a few things to be mindful of when using candles:

- Consider using battery-operated, flameless candles; what doesn't burn can't burn you or your house.
- When using candles that burn, place them in sturdy, safe candleholders that will not burn or tip over.
- Keep candles at least 12 inches from anything that can burn.
- Never leave a burning candle unattended.
- Never use a candle where medical oxygen is being used.
- Be careful not to splatter hot wax when extinguishing a candle.

Have very S.A.F.E. holidays!

Credit Reports and Death

Some columns are less enjoyable than others to write. My condolences to the two friends who have need for this information in the last month.

Each individual has an account with each of the credit bureaus. This wonderful financial tool is yours alone! With a good credit score, you can get better loan rates, insurance rates, and other benefits. When someone dies and the credit bureaus are told of the death, the account is closed and the score goes to zero. This is to prevent scoundrels from using the account information for their benefit. It also may help you as a survivor from being harassed by someone wanting to part you from your money.

As a survivor, in addition to all the emotions and details you are dealing with, it is a good idea to get a copy of the deceased's credit report from each of the three bureaus so you can get a clearer picture of his or her finances and learn if you are responsible for anything, such as being a co-signer on a credit card. The request for a copy can be made by a spouse or executor.

Send a letter with the following information about the deceased: legal name, Social Security number, date of birth and of death, last known address, a copy of the death certificate or letters testamentary. Include your full name, your address, and if not a spouse, the court document showing your executor status.

After that, you can request the credit bureaus close the account and mark it "Deceased. Do Not Issue Credit". The Social Security Administration should forward this request, but I'd advise making sure it happens. Addresses for the three credit bureaus are easy to find online but call me if you have troubles.

Older Patients Deserve Age-Friendly Care

"I've been on my gout medication since the 1990s. No one ever suggested I stop taking it, doc." Jerry was a new patient, in for a general health checkup. He had a variety of health conditions and was taking at least 6 different medicines. When I asked him how long it'd been since his last gout flare, he proudly replied, "I haven't had one in 20 years." Now, maybe he hasn't had a recurrence in two decades because he's been on the medicine, or rather, maybe he just doesn't need to be on the drug anymore.

Jerry's experience isn't unusual: many older patients are still taking medication that had been prescribed to them when they were much younger, without anyone questioning whether they should still be taking it. Think about it – has your doctor ever comprehensively reviewed all your medicines with you – and discontinued one or lowered a dose? It's critical that you review your medications with your doctors and see if there should be any changes. Every drug has risks and benefits, and that balance can sometimes shift as we age. In fact, certain drugs should be outright avoided as you get older. Yet, most older patients are unaware of this.

This is one of many findings surfaced by a recent survey on age-friendly health systems conducted by WebMD and The John A. Hartford Foundation. We surveyed nearly 3,000 patients and caregivers, age 65 and older, and the results were a bit sobering. We learned that the care of older adults is mired in misinformation, especially among minority populations, with older patients and caregivers mistakenly believing that sharp declines in the quality of life are inevitable. Here are a few of the findings that I found most concerning:

- Forty percent of those surveyed were unaware that certain prescription medications affect the quality of their thinking.
- More than two-thirds of caregivers said that the person in their care has difficulty walking around, and half said that they had fallen within the past year. And very few are doing any activities to improve mobility.
- Only a very small percentage talk to their doctors about their concerns and fears or share their future health goals.
- Forty percent of respondents incorrectly think that depression is an inevitable part of aging.

So why are older patients not getting the care and the information that they need?

I think part of the reason is that patients and caregivers often aren't sure what to expect – and what they should demand – from doctors and the health care system. They just accept the status quo, but we need to change that. Patients and caregivers need to know that they can and should ask for care that meets their specific needs.

Advances in medicine have allowed us to live longer, and that's great. But now we need medical care that will help to optimize our health as we age. We need age-friendly care that is evidence-based, causes no harm, and is always consistent with what matters to the older person. But that kind of change will only happen if patients and caregivers ask for it and start to expect it. So, if you're an older patient, or caregiver, I hope you'll take a few minutes and read the results of the survey (www.webmd.com/healthy-aging/age-health-care-survey) It may open your eyes to some things that you didn't know you could be asking of your doctors.

And, in case you are wondering, Jerry did decide to stop his gout medicine and he has been doing very well!

Share the Love with Vulnerable Seniors this Year

Highland Valley
ELDER SERVICES

Exciting news! For the 12th year running, the Meals on Wheels network is participating in the 2019 Subaru Share the Love Event. Over the past eleven years, Subaru and its retailers have helped Meals on Wheels to deliver more than 2.2 million meals nationwide to seniors in need.

Why does Subaru support Meals on Wheels? Too many seniors are struggling to stay independent and healthy. One in four seniors lives alone in isolation and one in seven seniors might not know from where their next meal is coming. This is simply unacceptable, which is why Highland Valley Elder Services provides the nutritious meals, friendly visits and safety checks to the seniors of Hampshire and Hampden counties. This vital support keeps seniors in their own homes, where they want to be. We're incredibly grateful to Subaru and its Retailers for supporting our organization and the seniors we serve.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

This November 14, 2019, through January 2, 2020, for every new Subaru vehicle purchased or leased, Subaru will donate $250 to the customer's choice of participating charities.* Meals on Wheels is one of four national participating charities and has been since the inception of the event. Through this event, as a member of Meals on Wheels America, Highland Valley Elder Services will receive a share of the donation from Subaru vehicles sold at participating Subaru Retailers.

You might not be in the market to purchase a new car, but if you are, please look into the Subaru Share the Love Event to learn more. If you're not shopping for a new vehicle, you can still help by spreading the word to your family and friends. Share our posts about the Share the Love Event on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. And remember: this holiday season you can ensure our senior neighbors are not forgotten, when you purchase or lease a new Subaru and select Meals on Wheels as your charity of choice.

*Disclaimer: Subaru will donate $250 for every new Subaru vehicle sold or leased from November 14, 2019, through January 2, 2020, to four national charities designated by the purchaser or lessee. Pre-approved Hometown Charities may be selected for donation depending on retailer participation. For every new Subaru vehicle sold or leased during the campaign period, participating retailers will donate a minimum of $50 in total to their registered Hometown Charities. Purchasers/lessees must make their charity designations by January 15, 2020. The four national charities will receive a guaranteed minimum donation of $250,000 each. See your local Subaru retailer for details or visit subaru.com/share. All donations made by Subaru of America, Inc.
