Fall is here!

One of the prettiest times of the year, but with Covid, it means too cool to be outside for our luncheons.

October Luncheon (Curbside)

Our October luncheon will be back to curbside at the Goshen town hall on October 12 from 11:30 - 12:00. $5.00 donation per meal is requested. The COA team will bring your lunch out to your vehicle. The deadline to order your lunch will be October 6th. Please call Evelyn at 413-268-3316 to make your reservations. You will have a choice of New England boiled beef dinner with lots of vegetables or just a boiled vegetable dinner. Jerry from the Spruce Corner Restaurant will supply the meal and Jess from Red's Bakery will provide us with a sweet dessert.

Afternoon Tea and Social on the Lawn

Sunday, October 3rd at 2:00 p.m.

The Goshen Free Library and the Goshen Council on Aging invite you to enjoy an afternoon of Celtic, Classical, Jazz and Pop musical selections by Harpist, Piper Pichette, a local songwriter, lyricist, and teacher. Piper is a professional Celtic Lever Harpist and graduate of the Berklee College of Music in Boston, Massachusetts.

We invite you to join us outdoors on the town lawn (behind the library) for an afternoon of delightful harp music and tea. And... you might enjoy bringing your own special teacup!

The Ashfield Community Band is coming to Goshen on Saturday, September 25th at 2:00 p.m.

The 25-member community band under the direction of Cynthia Mangsen will be playing a variety of musical selections outdoors on the Goshen Congregational Church lawn. The Goshen Council on Aging and the Goshen Free Library invite you to join us for lively music and cider and doughnuts! Please bring your own lawn chairs.

Both of these free events are supported by a grant from the Goshen Cultural Council.

Since the pandemic has started, we have been having our COA board meeting on Zoom and not on any special day. We are trying to get back to some normality. Our meeting will continue to be on the last Tuesday of the month at 1pm. September 28th will be the first one and October 26 will be the next one. Our meetings will be taking place at the town hall, staying safe distances and wearing our masks. The actual board is full now, but if you would like to join us to help us out and give us some new ideas, please come and join us.

A Note from Joan Griswold

The past 18 months have been an interesting time: we have learned to live simply, and closer to our homes. Just when we thought things were improving and it was safe to gather again for important social and exercise time, we have to take caution again and stay close to our homes to stay healthy.

I get that Zoom is not for everyone, but I, for one, am thankful we have it! Many of us are still on DSL internet. It is incredible to think about how we have adapted and made something that is so important to us continue. I miss those of you who came back when we were able to be together and I long to see your faces in the group again soon!

I want to personally thank the four hilltown COA's that continue to support these classes. (Plainfield, Goshen, Williamsburg and Chesterfield) The community that has been created and maintained has been one of the highlights of this pandemic for me. I have worked hard to provide safe, health enhancing exercise opportunities for all. That said, things need to be interesting so you all keep coming back for more! You can choose how much effort and energy you want to put into these workouts, I strive to provide modifications so all can participate with comfort and reap the rewards. There is a little bit of cardio, total body strength and I do a great job of sneaking in a bunch of core and posture exercises without you knowing!

Think you might know someone who is interested in joining this group? We would love to welcome them. All participants are required to complete a brief health questionnaire. I then like to schedule time to meet with the participant to ensure the classes are a good fit. As your instructor I want to thoroughly understand your physical needs. It is never too late to make your personal health a priority!

Honorary Members of our town 90's club

Last month, our town's 90+ seniors were highlighted in this newsletter. This month we pay tribute to our honorary members.

Although not living in Goshen but having a strong bond with the town and holding a special spot in our hearts are honorary members, Floyd Merritt and Virginia Otis.

Floyd, who now resides in Windsor, Connecticut, will always be remembered for his volunteerism on the Zoning Board of Appeals, Historical Commission, and the Council on Aging. Floyd spent many a weekend hosting visitors at our Town Historical Museum which he cared for with such devotion and enthusiasm.

Virginia, now residing in Highview, will always be remembered for her love, knowledge and appreciation of the beauty and wonder of nature as evidenced in her articles published in the Gazette along with the poetry she wrote for pure joy! Ginny, as she is affectionately called, also volunteered on the COA board as well as the Library Trustee board.

New to the "honorary member" honor roll is Norman Hathaway who has just turned 90! Norman, now in Chesterfield, lived many, many years in Goshen. He served as a part-time police officer and is remembered fondly for his work as town constable. Thank you, Norman, for all those years of carefully escorting folks across route 9.

To Floyd, Ginny and Norman:
your town thanks,
remembers, and appreciates you!

Happy Birthday in October!

Seniors Aware of Fire Education

October is "Fire Safety Month." Many fire departments have teams that go onto the schools and present a fire safety program with the students. This year the theme for this program is smoke alarms -- The Sound You Can Live With. Here are a few reminders about the important life saving alarms:

- ⇒ When fire strikes, you may have less than a minute to get out. So working smoke alarms will save your life and the lives of those who live with you.
- ⇒ Check your smoke alarms regularly to make sure they are working.
- ⇒ Smoke alarms wear out over time; most of them are good for about ten years. On the back of the detector is the date it was made. If it is ten years old it needs to be replaced; if there is no date on the back, it is way too old to be working properly. Replace it immediately.
- ⇒ Replace them with new 10-year, sealed batteries, smoke alarms.
- ⇒ When the alarm sounds:
  - + Leave the building immediately.
  - + GET OUT and STAY OUT!
  - + Go to a family meeting place.
  - + Call 911 from outdoors or from a neighbor's phone.

Have a SAFE fall,
 --Worth Noyes, SAFE Educator
 Williamsburg & Cummington Fire Departments

The Senior SAFE program is sponsored by many of your fire departments and the Massachusetts Department of Fire Services.

Would you like to receive your newsletter, in color, by email instead of snail mail?

If so, please email Kristen at regionalcoanews@gmail.com to be put on the email list. Include your address so I will know which mailing list to take you off of. Thanks!

Spam Texts!

Well, this was not going to be the topic for this month, but I got a spam text on my phone on Sep 5. First one, and I am not happy! So I assume you may have or will get one or more and will also not be happy. Why is this so bad? In addition to interrupting your day, the sender may try to install malware on your phone, will likely try to get personal information to steal your identity, and may sell your number to some other sleaze so you get even more texts!

What to do? I know you guessed the first step – don't let the sender know they reached a valid number, so don't open the message. On my phone, there is a blue dot by a text if it is unread. To keep it that way, click on the right hand menu and find an option for Delete, Mark as Unread, something like that. You may have to do an internet search to learn how to do this on your phone or call your provider.

Next, follow the suggestions from a Norton antivirus page: us.norton.com/internetsecurity-how-to-deal-with-spam-text-messages.html Don't click on any links in the text since you really do not know where you are going when you do that. Check your cell phone bill to make sure all charges are valid. Your phone itself may have some settings that will block these texts; check your user manual or an online source for your kind of phone. Your phone carrier may have a blocker service. If anyone is using blocker software they like, please let me know.

PS – I have learned that five others got the same spam text I did. That shows that computers are sending these things, and we are up against a powerful spam opponent!

October's Good News

By Deborah Hollingworth

For all of us on Medicare, it's annual Open Enrollment again. October through the first week in December, we get to go shopping for our health care coverage. If you don't want to "shop" for different coverage, you don't have to, but might there be a better deal, that has better coverage for less money? And we all love to bargain hunt. Maybe not so much with health insurance? If I've heard it once, I've heard it dozens of times that folks just wish their coverage was simple. And perhaps in my lifetime, it might be. Maybe we will look back on these days of chaos when health insurance companies bombarded us with their advertising as "back in the dark ages".

But in the meantime, our mailbox (and TV) is full of advertisements for health insurance because this is the season to switch if you want to.

What is all the advertising about?

When we turn 65, if we've paid into social security, or our spouse has paid into social security, we get Medicare: original Medicare A & B. Then we can sign up for a Medicare D plan to cover our Rx, or enroll in a Medicare Advantage plan that covers Rx. Each year in the fall, during Open Enrollment, we get to change our mind and select different coverage if we wish. Many Medicare beneficiaries will decide to change their Rx coverage (their Medicare D plans). This happens a lot because the D plans change their prices, change their deductibles...even change their formularies which is the list of Rx they cover. So what was a "good" plan for you last year may not be a good plan for you next year.

An example that kept us SHINE counselors busy last year was a Humana Walmart's switch. Their $32/month D plan that covered a lot of Rx, changed to a $62/month plan for the same coverage. If folks read their mail, they were pretty upset. If they knew to call a SHINE counselor, they could "shop" the plans for the upcoming year and discover that Humana had another plan, in the $30/month range, which covered almost the same Rx. But you had to know this and switch.

How does the switch work?

During Open Enrollment, you get to sign up for a new plan if you want. The new plan takes effect January 1st and cancels out your old plan. To see if you should switch, you might contact your SHINE counselor who can do a Plan search/analysis for you and give you the contact information you need to call and enroll in a new Plan. You can call your senior center to schedule an appointment with a SHINE counselor. 'tis the season to be shoppers, if we want.

Private Questions: Public Answers

By Jan Gibeau

After being part of the professional world of gerontology for 60+ years, I've learned that one question always comes up: Is this normal aging—or is this some kind of dementia, like Alzheimer's? It's a question asked by many older adults, and by their friends and family members. It's been asked of professionals in PCP offices, in community health clinics, and in outpatient and inpatient hospital settings. It's something we ask each other all the time.

I've had to face this question myself. After I had heart bypass surgery around twenty years ago, I began to notice after a few years that my memory didn't seem to be quite the same. I knew that I shouldn't ignore my concerns; it was time to face my fears and get a comprehensive neurological evaluation. I was lucky—I was already a patient in the NYU healthcare system, and I was covered by a robust health insurance plan that would cover the costs. I knew where to go and how to arrange what was needed. When you open the door to our healthcare system all of these factors make it easier. For many people, depending on what kind of insurance they have and where they live, getting an evaluation can be difficult. In rural areas especially there is a shortage of the medical professionals needed to make such an evaluation: neurologists, geriatricians, geriatric psychiatrists, nurses, social workers.

I also knew that a comprehensive neuropsychiatric evaluation can sometimes conclude there is nothing going on but normal aging. Some evaluations identify the presence of several types of dementia, including Alzheimer's Disease. My results determined that I had mild cognitive impairment (MCI), a condition that is technically on a spectrum that includes many different types and levels of dementia. At the time I was horrified, worried that I was on a path that would lead directly to Alzheimer's. This was not the case. I was assured by my specialists that my level of functioning was still fine, and might very well remain that way. Even so, ever since the diagnosis was made I have been vigilant in looking for any and all changes, worrying that my condition might have progressed. I feared that the MCI would convert to dementia of the Alzheimer's Type which has a course lasting on average about seven years. Thus far that hasn't happened but the cognitive changes have slowly continued. Sometimes, for example, I can't find the right word. I was at a performance not long ago when the speaker stopped in mid sentence - he couldn't find the word he wanted to use. There was a long, heavy pause as the audience waited. Finally, he moved on and everyone breathed a sigh of relief. I thought to myself, I hope that never happens to me. Now every so often, it does.

For me, each year has brought small changes, usually not noticeable to others, but I have been painfully aware of every one of them. And each step of the way I've learned how to adapt—writing things down, saving information on the computer, saving phone messages, making "to do lists" etc. These are ways to cope that are always helpful, but my need for them has grown. Recently the changes have started becoming more noticeable, happening more and more often, but I'm adapting. I dread the progression of deficits that could erode my independence.

Nevertheless, here I am, still enjoying my work, my family and my friends. I'm surrounded by support by many in this wonderful small town. I'm still able to work and do the things I have always loved doing in the field of aging. For me, facing my fears wasn't, in fact, the beginning of the end. (Cont. on next page)

(cont. from pg 6) It was the beginning of a long road that many have walked before. I plan to learn as much as I can along the way and throw the door wide open so we can all reduce the stigma of living with neurological impairments. Regardless of how mild the MCI situation was at the beginning of my journey, I know that there is a long road ahead. Many of us may walk in this area--somewhere beyond "normal aging", experiencing some cognitive deficits on the spectrum of dementia-related symptoms. And some of us will progress to dementia.

I share this, feeling a little naked, but I'm opening up about my experiences in hope that it starts a long and public conversation, out in the open so we can all learn from and help each other live as long and independently as possible.
