June Luncheons

Join your friends for lunch at the Plainfield Town Hall!

- Wednesday, June 13th at Noon

Some of my best friends are cooks, and they love good food! Anne Williamson is our Guest Chef.

Menu: "Pastitiso", Greek Baked Pasta. One with Italian Sweet Sausage and one with ground lamb. Vegetarian: Spinach Pie. Green Salad. Dessert: Bittersweet Decadence Cookies

- Wednesday, June 27th at Noon

Elaine Sidney, Chef for COA.

Menu: Pork tenderloin with stuffed apples. Vegetarian: Three Bean Chili. Green Salad. Dessert: Poppy-Seed Torte "Tort Marowy"

My parents, Honey and John, enjoyed making their special dishes; baked stuffed peppers and "Zupa Grzybowa", two wild mushroom soups, (between August and October, father picked wild mushrooms with his brother-in-law.)

A Welcoming Invitation

There are many excellent cooks in Plainfield; women and men, young adults, teens and elders who make the best roasted chicken, mac & cheese, chopped salad, apple pie and chocolate chip cookies!

If you've helped out at a wedding, christening, or home-game party, you've experienced the fun and magic of people and food.

Now here's where you decide which, if any, of your robust recipes (meat or vegetarian) deserve to be shared with local folks at the Wednesday COA luncheons.

Be a Guest Chef. I guarantee you'll have fun. One main healthy dish, reimbursement of the cost of ingredients and no clean up; let's set a date!.

Seniors Aware of Fire Education

Smoking is the third leading cause of fire injuries for older adults. If you or someone you know smokes, here are a few safety tips:

- Smoke outside.
- Never smoke in bed, while drowsy or under the influence of medication or alcohol.
- Use deep, sturdy ashtrays.
- Make sure your butts and ashes are cold before throwing them out; drowning them is a sure way of knowing they are cold.
- Never ever smoke where medical oxygen is used, even if it is turned off.
- Stop smoking; then you won't have to worry about the above tips.

FAQs about the new RMV Document Requirements

If you have to get or renew a driver's license, ID card, or learner's permit, you should note that document requirements have changed.

The RMV often receives questions from customers about the new document requirements for getting or renewing a driver's license. Here are some of the more frequently asked questions with answers to help you:

Q. What if my name is different from the name that appears on my documents?

A. If your current name doesn't match the one that appears on your lawful presence document(s), you must prove your legal name change with an acceptable document in order to qualify for a REAL ID credential. A marriage certificate, divorce decree, or court document all qualify. However, if the names don't match, you can still get a Standard ID or driver's license.

Math and Money

There are three kinds of people. Those who can count and those who cannot. Ba da Dum!

So I read recently about how poorly some states are doing on training their students in financial literacy in school: www.champlain.edu/centers-of-excellence/center-for-financial-literacy/report-national-high-school-financial-literacy. I recognize two things: one, that teachers already have an overabundance of things to cover, so we can't expect schools to do all this, and, two, that not all parents are able to pass on this information. However, basic economics and financial knowledge are so important in a person's life. Everyone needs this information some way somehow.

Perhaps there is a younger member of the family who could use some money math tutoring? I found a good-looking web page with suggestions for working on math and money with children in Pre-K through eighth grade: www.ixl.com/math/money-and-consumer-math. Here is another resource you could use: www.creditrepair.com/articles/savings-center/math-and-money.

A riddle for you: What happened with the cat who swallowed a coin?
Answer: There was money in the kitty.

Outreach in our Livable, Age-friendly Northern Hilltowns

By Peg Whalen
Regional Outreach Coordinator for the Northern Hilltowns Consortium of COAs

The Northern Hilltowns Consortium of Councils on Aging has worked on outreach to older adults for the past three years. The effect has been measurable. All seven northern towns regularly include outreach in the board meetings. Three of the seven towns have outreach teams in place and are recruiting more participants. The other towns are working to create viable outreach teams for their towns.

Our newest opportunity to enhance outreach came to the Consortium early in May. A grant was available to assess communities for livability and age-friendliness. The Consortium applied late April, were funded five days later, with a start-up date of May 10th. The purpose of the funding is for surveying all older adults in Plainfield, Cummington, and Chesterfield. If you reside in these towns, you may have already received a questionnaire. The funding also supports the Consortium in conducting three town forums in June. Please watch for more information about the dates of the forums. Calling the COA is also a way to find out when they are being held. At the point we submitted this newsletter content, the forums were not scheduled yet.

The purpose of the community survey and forums is to obtain input from older adults, those who are not yet retired and those who are. The questionnaire concerns opinions of older adults about the importance of various age-friendly aspects of town life. Nationally there is increasing interest and support for helping communities become more age-friendly and livable for people of all ages. Several other communities across the state received the same funding. The Consortium applied as a multi-town region in rural Western Massachusetts.

Nine hundred and thirty-five (935) questionnaires were mailed in mid-May. Forms have been returning steadily. The final report for the project is due mid-summer. The Consortium will release the results in the coming months.

This project has been an unexpected boon for Consortium outreach efforts. Results will benefit not only the Consortium and area councils on aging, but also the towns involved in the survey. With information from the questionnaires and forums, the Consortium more effectively can support town outreach to older adults.

If you have not already returned a questionnaire, please consider filling it out and returning as much of it as possible. If you and a spouse each received one in the mail, we are interested in hearing from both of you. Our desired return date was May 31st, but if we get yours in June we will still use your input. Thank you to all of those who contributed their thoughts and opinions. We will keep you informed about the results.

Keeping a Healthy Weight as you Age

Why is keeping a healthy weight important? As you age, you may notice changes in your body's makeup. You may lose muscle mass, which may increase frailty. You may also burn fewer calories, especially if you are not very physically active. To prevent weight gain, you may need to eat fewer calories than you did when you were younger. This means you have fewer calories to help you get the nutrients your body needs for energy. So, you need to eat foods that are high in nutrients. Eating nutrient dense foods means "eating the rainbow": a variety of colorful fruits and vegetables, fat free/low-fat dairy, whole grains, seafood, lean meats, poultry, beans and nuts.

What is a healthy weight for you? The body mass index (BMI) is a measure of weight in relation to height. While a BMI score of 18.5 to 24.9 usually indicates a healthy weight for adults, the BMI is limited in how well it gauges body fat in older people or those who have lost muscle. Measuring around your waist may tell you if you carry extra fat. A waist circumference of more than 35 inches for women or 40 inches for men indicates increased risk for a number of health problems.

You may want to check with your health care provider or dentist if:

- you find chewing difficult, don't want to eat, or have trouble with your dentures.
- you feel that life events such as the death of a loved one or moving from your home are keeping you from eating well.
- you think your medicines may be making your food taste bad or affecting your appetite.
- you think you should take a daily vitamin like iron or vitamin C.

Q. Can a laminated Social Security card be accepted? What about other laminated documents?

A. No. Laminated Social Security cards are not acceptable for a REAL ID credential. If you have a valid SSN and other required documents, you can get a Standard driver's license or ID. Customers with a laminated Social Security card that want a REAL ID can order a replacement Social Security card through the Social Security Administration website. The RMV does not accept laminated documents to meet any of the new lawful presence or other identification requirements.

Q. What versions of a U.S. birth certificate can the RMV accept? A. We are able to accept a certified copy of a U.S. birth certificate regardless of shape and size ("short-form," "long-form," and "card" versions) as long as it is stamped with a raised seal of the issuing agency of the document. The issuing agency can be the city, town, or the Vital Records Office for the state where you were born. We do not accept hospital-issued birth certificates.

The photo above is of Bob and June Persing, Plainfield residents, who joined 17 others from the Northampton Senior Center friends group on a trip to the Polish Center of Discovery & Learning in April. They enjoyed the informative and humorous stories told by docent Ron Lech, who exudes such a passion for this special museum. The ten room museum was filled with artifacts, history, costumes, artwork, and other memorabilia. A return visit is surely necessary to appreciate all the museum has to offer. Prior to the museum visit, the group enjoyed lunch at the Munich House.

The Northampton Senior Center friends group welcomes folks of all ages to join us on our future trips (see trips listed to the left). For more information, please contact Francine Frenier on Monday afternoons by calling 413-587-1228.
