December Events & Features

December Holiday Luncheon at the Plainfield Town Hall

- Wednesday, Dec. 11th at Noon

We are excited to offer our holiday luncheon again this year and are thrilled to announce that Phil Allesio has graciously offered to prepare a roast beef dinner for us with all the fixins. After the luncheon we are going to have a program called "Tales of Old Plainfield" for all to enjoy with both wonderful and hilarious memories of days gone by in Plainfield. We hope you will all join us for this festive occasion.

Remember we always have brown bags available for take-home fresh fruit after the luncheon. Donations are always welcome to help defray costs.

Exercise Classes

Our exercise classes with Joan Griswold are continuing. As we are not as active this time of year, it is most important to get enough exercise. The classes are held on Monday mornings at the Town Hall at 10am. Come join us as it is a lot of fun and good for muscle strengthening! We would love to see more Plainfield members represented at these classes. The class lasts about an hour and finishes with a 10-minute relaxation/meditation session. If possible, we ask for an optional small donation to defray costs. For more information, call Sue LaRock at (413) 743.5345.

Clinic Dates to Remember

- Blood Pressure Clinic— If you wish, we can take your blood pressure at our monthly luncheon.

Program Updates

Program possibilities in the works. Stay tuned.

- Possible CPR training
- Have Comedy Will Travel – Steve Henderson
- Donut Dollies – A local movie under development about the women who provided donuts and coffee to the troops in the field from WWI to the Vietnam War with firsthand knowledge from Dorset Anderson who served during the Vietnam War.

Suggestions appreciated! The Plainfield COA is looking for program and travel suggestions to offer our community in the foreseeable future. We have placed a suggestion box in the Town Hall on the COA kiosk for you to add your ideas. Looking forward to hearing from you!

Medicare Information

The SHINE Program encourages Medicare beneficiaries to sign up on www.MyMedicare.gov to take charge of their own health insurance information. They will be able to see doctor's visits, the list of preventive benefits, their drug list to use during Open Enrollment, and they can chat with customer service at Medicare.

Caution: If you receive a phone call from "Medicare" and are asked to give them your Medicare ID number or any other personal, financial information, hang up the phone! This is a scam! As a Medicare or Social Security beneficiary, the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services and the Social Security Administration will not call you to ask you to disclose financial information in order to get a new card or to change your health insurance policy.

Robo Calls

What should you do if you suspect you're receiving a spoofed call? Here are a few tips.

- Don't answer or return calls from phone numbers you don't recognize. Let the call go to voicemail instead, even if the number appears to be local.
- Enter the number in an Internet search. This allows you to check if the number is listed as being from a legitimate company, or if the company has mention of a scam that is going on using their number. It also allows you to see what other people are saying about the number.
- Familiarize yourself with call blocking options for your cellphone.
- List your phone number on the National Do Not Call Registry. While this will not prevent unscrupulous callers from contacting you, it can help to limit the number of calls you receive.
- If your number is on the registry and you receive unwanted calls, report them. This can help expose and catch callers who are engaging in fraud.

Unfortunately, it requires real diligence to stay ahead of phone scammers these days. But by staying alert and taking the right precautions, you can make sure that robocallers and call-spoofers don't prosper at your expense.

Seniors Aware of Fire Education

The December holidays will be with us before we know it. Many of the customs involve candles. So, here are a few things to be mindful of when using candles:

- Consider using battery-operated, flameless candles; what doesn't burn can't burn you or your house.
- When using candles that burn, place them in sturdy, safe candleholders that will not burn or tip over.
- Keep candles at least 12 inches from anything that can burn.
- Never leave a burning candle unattended.
- Never use a candle where medical oxygen is being used.
- Be careful not to splatter hot wax when extinguishing a candle.

Have very S.A.F.E. holidays!

Credit Reports and Death

Some columns are less enjoyable than others to write. My condolences to the two friends who have need for this information in the last month.

Each individual has an account with each of the credit bureaus. This wonderful financial tool is yours alone! With a good credit score, you can get better loan rates, insurance rates, and other benefits. When someone dies and the credit bureaus are told of the death, the account is closed and the score goes to zero. This is to prevent scoundrels from using the account information for their benefit. It also may help you as a survivor from being harassed by someone wanting to part you from your money.

As a survivor, in addition to all the emotions and details you are dealing with, it is a good idea to get a copy of the deceased's credit report from each of the three bureaus so you can get a clearer picture of his or her finances and learn if you are responsible for anything, such as being a co-signer on a credit card. The request for a copy can be made by a spouse or executor.

Send a letter with the following information about the deceased: legal name, Social Security number, date of birth and of death, last known address, a copy of the death certificate or letters testamentary. Include your full name, your address, and if not a spouse, the court document showing your executor status.

After that, you can request the credit bureaus close the account and mark it "Deceased. Do Not Issue Credit". The Social Security Administration should forward this request, but I'd advise making sure it happens. Addresses for the three credit bureaus are easy to find online but call me if you have troubles.

Yours,

Older Patients Deserve Age-Friendly Care

"I've been on my gout medication since the 1990s. No one ever suggested I stop taking it, doc." Jerry was a new patient, in for a general health checkup. He had a variety of health conditions and was taking at least 6 different medicines. When I asked him how long it'd been since his last gout flare, he proudly replied, "I haven't had one in 20 years." Now, maybe he hasn't had a recurrence in two decades because he's been on the medicine, or rather, maybe he just doesn't need to be on the drug anymore.

Jerry's experience isn't unusual: many older patients are still taking medication that had been prescribed to them when they were much younger, without anyone questioning whether they should still be taking it. Think about it – has your doctor ever comprehensively reviewed all your medicines with you – and discontinued one or lowered a dose? It's critical that you review your medications with your doctors and see if there should be any changes. Every drug has risks and benefits, and that balance can sometimes shift as we age. In fact, certain drugs should be outright avoided as you get older. Yet, most older patients are unaware of this.

This is one of many findings surfaced by a recent survey on age-friendly health systems conducted by WebMD and The John A. Hartford Foundation. We surveyed nearly 3,000 patients and caregivers, age 65 and older, and the results were a bit sobering. We learned that the care of older adults is mired in misinformation, especially among minority populations, with older patients and caregivers mistakenly believing that sharp declines in the quality of life are inevitable. Here are a few of the findings that I found most concerning:

- Forty percent of those surveyed were unaware that certain prescription medications affect the quality of their thinking.
- More than two-thirds of caregivers said that the person in their care has difficulty walking around, and half said that they had fallen within the past year. And very few are doing any activities to improve mobility.
- Only a very small percentage talk to their doctors about their concerns and fears or share their future health goals.
- Forty percent of respondents incorrectly think that depression is an inevitable part of aging.

So why are older patients not getting the care and the information that they need?

I think part of the reason is that patients and caregivers often aren't sure what to expect – and what they should demand – from doctors and the health care system. They just accept the status quo, but we need to change that. Patients and caregivers need to know that they can and should ask for care that meets their specific needs.

Advances in medicine have allowed us to live longer, and that's great. But now we need medical care that will help to optimize our health as we age. We need age-friendly care that is evidence-based, causes no harm, and is always consistent with what matters to the older person. But that kind of change will only happen if patients and caregivers ask for it and start to expect it. So, if you're an older patient, or caregiver, I hope you'll take a few minutes and read the results of the survey (www.webmd.com/healthy-aging/age-health-care-survey) It may open your eyes to some things that you didn't know you could be asking of your doctors.

And, in case you are wondering, Jerry did decide to stop his gout medicine and he has been doing very well!

Share the Love with Vulnerable Seniors this Year

Highland Valley
ELDER SERVICES

Exciting news! For the 12th year running, the Meals on Wheels network is participating in the 2019 Subaru Share the Love Event. Over the past eleven years, Subaru and its retailers have helped Meals on Wheels to deliver more than 2.2 million meals nationwide to seniors in need.

Why does Subaru support Meals on Wheels? Too many seniors are struggling to stay independent and healthy. One in four seniors lives alone in isolation and one in seven seniors might not know from where their next meal is coming. This is simply unacceptable, which is why Highland Valley Elder Services provides the nutritious meals, friendly visits and safety checks to the seniors of Hampshire and Hampden counties. This vital support keeps seniors in their own homes, where they want to be. We're incredibly grateful to Subaru and its Retailers for supporting our organization and the seniors we serve.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

This November 14, 2019, through January 2, 2020, for every new Subaru vehicle purchased or leased, Subaru will donate $250 to the customer's choice of participating charities.* Meals on Wheels is one of four national participating charities and has been since the inception of the event. Through this event, as a member of Meals on Wheels America, Highland Valley Elder Services will receive a share of the donation from Subaru vehicles sold at participating Subaru Retailers.

You might not be in the market to purchase a new car, but if you are, please look into the Subaru Share the Love Event to learn more. If you're not shopping for a new vehicle, you can still help by spreading the word to your family and friends. Share our posts about the Share the Love Event on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. And remember: this holiday season you can ensure our senior neighbors are not forgotten, when you purchase or lease a new Subaru and select Meals on Wheels as your charity of choice.

*Disclaimer: Subaru will donate $250 for every new Subaru vehicle sold or leased from November 14, 2019, through January 2, 2020, to four national charities designated by the purchaser or lessee. Pre-approved Hometown Charities may be selected for donation depending on retailer participation. For every new Subaru vehicle sold or leased during the campaign period, participating retailers will donate a minimum of $50 in total to their registered Hometown Charities. Purchasers/lessees must make their charity designations by January 15, 2020. The four national charities will receive a guaranteed minimum donation of $250,000 each. See your local Subaru retailer for details or visit subaru.com/share. All donations made by Subaru of America, Inc.
