Important Covid-19 Information

Older adults and people who have severe underlying medical conditions like heart or lung disease or diabetes seem to be at higher risk for developing serious complications from COVID-19. Listed below are some of the symptoms of Covid-19 and what you should do if you are experiencing them.

Be advised—the best way to prevent illness is to avoid being exposed to this virus by keeping the social distance of the recommended 6 feet and avoid touching your face. Always wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds. If soap and water are not readily available, use a hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol. Stay at home as much as possible. Cover your mouth and nose with a cloth face cover or mask when around others. You could spread COVID-19 to others even if you do not feel sick!

Symptoms of Covid-19 Infection and What to Do

Fever

A fever of over 100 degrees is considered a fever. It is likely to be low in the morning and go up throughout the day. Take it in the late afternoon or evening when it is likely to be highest. Everyone should make sure they have a thermometer. If the fever persists for a few days or gets worse, CALL YOUR HEALTHCARE PROVIDER.

Cough

A dry cough in your chest, coming from your breastbone or sternum is a symptom. This is not a throat tickle, not clearing your throat. Not a post-nasal drip cough. If the cough feels like the tubes inside your lungs are irritated, and it is getting worse, call your healthcare provider.

Difficulty Breathing

This can occur with or without a cough. Your chest may feel tight or you cannot get a good breath over a period of time (and you know you are not experiencing a panic attack or the like). In addition, the CDC lists some related symptoms: bluish lips or face, sudden mental confusion or lethargy, inability to rouse. If the tightness persists or is growing more severe this is urgent. Call for help immediately 9-1-1, stay on the line to give the dispatcher the needed information; if you drive or are being driven, go to the closest emergency room. Call ahead to alert them you are coming. Be sure to wear a mask and gloves if you can manage that to protect your driver.

Cooley Dickinson Hospital: (413) 582-2000

Flu and Cold Symptoms

Other flu-like symptoms are common including headaches, digestive issues, body aches and fatigue/exhaustion. In China, digestive issues were common with COVID-19 and could occur without respiratory problems. There can also be cold-like symptoms such as runny nose, sore throat and sneezing. These symptoms are most likely a cold or allergies or a "regular" flu; BUT, if they do not improve after a week, or they seem to be worsening, or if they accompanied by other symptoms, call your health care provider.

Tax and Stimulus Checks Information

The IRS launched a solution that allows taxpayers who don't normally file a tax return (i.e., income is under the filing threshold) to provide the minimum information required for purposes of receiving the Economic Impact Payments (commonly known as stimulus checks).

What action should I take??

Taxpayers that are not required to file a full 2019 or 2018 tax return because they don't meet minimal filing requirements and are eligible to receive Economic Impact Payments, should be directed to the following IRS link: www.irs.gov/coronavirus/non-filers-enter-payment-info-here

Seniors Aware of Fire Education

As the coronavirus spreads into our hilltowns, you have been given a lot of good advice on social distancing and what to do if you come down with it or are exposed to it.

Our topic this month is what to do if you or a loved one needs an ambulance.

It is easy; dial 911. Listen to the dispatcher and answer his/her questions. You may be very anxious, but don't be impatient. The dispatcher needs to ask the questions so that the appropriate response team will get to you.

Breath, keep your distance and be SAFE!

Spring Cleaning

No, not windows, though mine are a little dirty... let's talk about those annoying piles of paper. Can you imagine having just a few tidy, labeled, and filed stacks of paperwork? Can you imagine no risk of sliding on a loose piece of paper and falling? Can you imagine someone being able to come into your home and find the medical records you need right now because you went to the hospital? No? Well, we have some time, so let's see what can be done.

First, find a container such as file drawers or cardboard boxes of a size to hold folders. Find folders or dividers. Get a marking pen and/or labels. Find a box for shred and recycle.

Second, find a clear surface and lay out your piles and stacks, sorted into their relevant topics. Determine by topic if they are: keep forever, keep several years, keep a year or less, or shred and recycle. Those things to be kept can be sorted by date, and you may find that some older documents really don't have to be kept. What are the topics? Insurance, bank, automobile, mortgage, utilities, medical, purchases... you get the picture.

Make sure you have topics that relate to taxes. As you might expect, the IRS rules for what to keep and how long to keep it are lengthy and won't even fit this column. Here are the basics:

www.irs.gov/businesses/small-businesses-self-employed/how-long-should-i-keep-records

Other things such as automobile titles or house deeds, and on the other end, expired warranties for products you don't even still have are simpler to determine. I found several good lists of topics and their timetable for keeping. If you can't access these yourself, give a holler after you've started your process and can see what you have to deal with.

Good News!

By Deborah Hollingworth

Seems like there is a scarcity of "good news" these days as we learn to deal with this Covid-19 pandemic, developing new habits of social distancing, scrupulous hand washing, and disinfecting surfaces. Hopefully it's not too early to say we might be seeing some "flattening of the curve" because of our new habits?

Meanwhile neighbors check on neighbors, families and friends keep in touch with social media, new groups of volunteers spring up and our leaders are thinking of ways to work collectively. Who could have imagined Governor Baker putting together a deal with China for over a million face masks and having the New England Patriots jet go pick them up and deliver to Massachusetts hospitals, and our National Guard escorting some of these masks to New York hospitals? It sounds like a movie script, but difficult times call for creative solutions.

More good news:

We have until July to file both our State and Federal income taxes. The Food Stamp program has not been reduced as expected and pop-up Food Pantries are happening in our communities.

Along the same lines, Governor Baker has "frozen" MassHealth benefits. This means those MassHealth consumers who have to file their re-application paperwork won't lose benefits. Those individuals in the process of filing new applications for MassHealth benefits have more time to get their applications completed. Your time won't run out if you miss a deadline. This decision keeps MassHealth benefits in place and suspends deadlines for getting paperwork completed.

Here's hoping next month will see more progress defeating this pandemic. Until then, stay well, and help a friend or neighbor when you can.

The Hilltown Food Pantry, with its permanent location in Goshen, is open every Wednesday from 1-3pm [extended hours to 6pm are temporarily suspended] and will serve the remaining towns of its service area: Chesterfield, Goshen, Huntington, Middlefield, Plainfield, Westhampton, and Williamsburg. Food distribution for this site has moved across the parking lot to the Goshen Town Hall assembly room. Again for space considerations to help clients, volunteers and staff maintain a safe distance from one another as bags are packed and distributed.

Both sites offer drive by pick up of prepacked bags of groceries for people who are struggling to have food on hand during this national pandemic emergency. The supplies include shelf stable items, fresh produce and other food items as available.

Hilltowners may also choose to access emergency food from Northampton Survival Center at the Jackson Street Elementary School, 120 Jackson St, Northampton on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 12-3pm during the national Covid-19 crisis.

For more information go to the website: www.northampton-survival.org or call 413-268-7578.

Hilltown Food Pantry Reopens

Hilltown Food Pantry, a program of Northampton Survival Center, is open for food distribution to residents of the hilltowns of western Hampshire County.

In order to better adhere to the physical distancing guidelines our state is prescribing, and to help people stay closer to their homes, a temporary sister pantry has been opened at the R.H. Conwell Elementary School on Route 112 in Worthington to serve residents of Worthington and Cummington who are in need of grocery supplies. Please call 413-238-1999 to reserve bags for pick up on Thursdays from 1 – 1:30pm at the school.

The Hilltown Mobile Market is coming back this summer with more farms, new locations, a longer season, and double the number of farm shares!

Your support during our pilot season last year resulted in increased grant funding to purchase a market vehicle and broaden our reach to more communities. Starting in July, we will bring "pop-up" markets to Blandford, Cummington, Huntington, and Worthington each week for twelve weeks, stocked with the freshest Hilltown-grown produce. Stop by and shop with cash, credit, debit, SNAP, WIC, or Senior FMNP Coupons, or sign-up in advance for a Hilltown Mobile Market Farm Share to support our farms and guarantee your pick of that week's harvest. The Farm Share is an affordable option with a sliding scale between $5-20 per week and is also eligible for HIP (Healthy Incentives Program) reimbursements!

The market is supported by Healthy Hampshire, Hilltown Community Development and the Hilltown Community Health Center.

For more information or to sign up for a farm share, visit hilltownmobilemarket.info or contact Caitlin Marquis: 413-588-5562, cmarquis@collaborative.org.

Joan Griswold stays in touch and keeps us moving

During our time of keeping our distance while staying close, Joan has made it so much easier for those in her exercise classes to get through it all. Her daily email messages bring encouraging thoughts, important insights and images of her strategies for "working it out" outside. Her emails are refreshing in more ways than one. Here is one of them:

When times get tough, we have to do our best to keep moving!

It seems like it all changed, in just a mere few days. Life as we knew it came to a screeching halt while fear and anxiety began to escalate. Our day to day routines became disrupted, and it took some time for some to realize just how serious things had become. The reality has now sunk in; it's a different world out there right now.

In those final days, I recall the experience of being told I could not teach my exercise classes I so adore, I could not teach valuable CPR skills to folks looking to be helpful in a time of need. If someone had told me a month ago that life as we knew it would be changing like never before, I am not so sure I could have believed them yet here it is, right outside our doors.

Here we are in the midst of the corona storm. We all know someone who knows someone impacted by this storm. We are told to stay great distances apart, and while being outdoors is a great idea, you have to avoid all the mobs. As I continue to navigate my way through each day, I know in my heart the most important thing I can do is to "continue to support". A giver by nature, this comes easily to me. What is harder is relaying it via a media means.

There are some important points that I try to relay. The most important is to be sure you move your body, each and every day, in some way. Maintaining some physical movement is good, for both the mind and body. I created a YouTube channel for all to resource. There are exercise, nutrition and relaxation videos available for all. Check out my channel at:

www.youtube.com/channel/UCtInbx8RBhb_GC4fvN3icJw/featured

Subscribe to be informed when I update and add more! I have now begun to also provide Zoom exercise sessions for the Monday, Wednesday and Friday groups. Contact me for additional information.

Routine in your day is an absolute must. Have a plan or a list of what needs to be done! Try to have things that you can incorporate into your day, and make you feel good! Maybe it is reading, calling a friend to talk or writing a poem, tending to your plants, or simply sitting quietly and appreciating being alone. If alone is something you are feeling too strongly, there is an email list that allows participants to write and share with others. If this sounds like something you need in your day, just let me know and on the email distribution list your name will go!

Eating wholesome and healthy foods supports healthy brain function. This is also an important consideration for keeping your immunity at its optimal function. Hand washing and good hygiene along with distance from others is important, but how about being mindful of what you decide to fuel your body with each and every time you reach for something? Carbs are so easy to consume in a pinch, but do not forget to have something with protein content each and every time you eat.

I personally believe the best way to start the best day is to get up and get your exercise out of the way. Morning is a wonderful to wake up your heart and challenge your muscles, or to be outside enjoying fresh air and the beauty that surrounds us here in the hills. I have never been more appreciative of the little trails, low traffic roadways and local little streams. They provide such beautiful and tranquil scenes. Be in these wonderful moments as much as you can; stop and cherish them as the gift that they are. Breathe deeply and expand those lungs, feel your belly extend then engage core to spine. Do not forget your muscles need attention too! Pick up those free weights and crank out a simple strength exercise or two!

Stay plenty hydrated, for this, too, is important as it keeps your joints lubricated and your body functions regulated. It's great for your skin while it flushes your body of all the crazy toxins!

Maintain a positive attitude the best that you can. It is really easy to be down when you watch the news and engage with others who cannot see the positive things that surround them every day. I am so incredibly thankful for the elders who I am fortunate to know; they have taught me that sometimes you have to admit things are out of your control. Once you acknowledge that this is the case, you can move about your day with greater dignity and grace.

We will gather in person again sometime soon! Until then, be sure to make the effort to take care of YOU. The corona storm will indeed pass. Until then, please stay healthy and safe.

TIPS TO AVOID CORONAVIRUS SCAMS

If you have a consumer problem or question, contact the Northwestern District Attorney's Consumer Protection Unit:

Greenfield (413) 774-3186
Northampton (413) 586-9225

- Hang up on robocalls. Don't press any numbers. Scammers are using illegal robocalls to pitch everything from scam Coronavirus treatments to work-at-home schemes. The recording might say that pressing a number will let you speak to a live operator or remove you from their call list, but it might lead to more robocalls.

- Ignore online offers for vaccinations and home test kits. Scammers are trying to get you to buy products that aren't proven to treat or prevent the Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) — online or in stores. At this time, there also are no FDA-authorized home test kits for the Coronavirus.

- Fact-check information. Scammers, and sometimes well-meaning people, share information that hasn't been verified. Before you pass on any messages, contact trusted sources.

- Know who you're buying from. Online sellers may claim to have in-demand products, like cleaning, household, and health and medical supplies when, in fact, they don't.

- Don't respond to texts and emails about checks from the government. Anyone who tells you they can get you the money now is a scammer.

- Don't click on links from sources you don't know. They could download viruses onto your computer or device.

- Watch for emails claiming to be from the Centers for Disease Control & Prevention (CDC) or experts saying they have information about the virus. Visit the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the World Health Organization (WHO).

- Do your homework when it comes to donations, whether through charities or crowdfunding sites. If someone wants donations in cash, by gift card, or by wiring money, don't do it.
